WHERE HAVE YOU BEEN LOOKING FOR JESUS?

There is a strange irony to this last day of the liturgical year. On the one side there is a Gospel reading about the final judgement in Matthew 25: 31 – 46. The parable is about the return of the Son of Man in the last days when He will – like the shepherd - separate the sheep and the goats, and speak those haunting words, ‘when you did it to the least of these you did it to me’ and we reply ‘when ...’? Then on the other side the title of this last day in the liturgical year, ‘Christ the King’!

What does the Kingship of Jesus have to do with the care of the most needy around us?

The one side today speaks of power, majesty and all that draws the world to bow at His feet in worship; the other side today speaks of the powerless, the vulnerable, and those that would repel us as the unattractive of the world. Today then seems to stand on the edge of a contradiction. How does a King come to be among the lowliest and least? How does majesty and power find its place among the poor and powerless?

Once again as we read through a parable we know that there are some guidelines as to where it leads us in our understanding of the Kingdom of God. So let’s go again to the final point that the parable makes.

We will all be called on at the last judgement, to give account for the way we have lived our lives out in this world. Did we care for the most needy around us – as in the example of our King, the Risen Jesus – or did we remain self-absorbed like the rest of the world?

The great challenge that comes to us again today is that we will not find Jesus among the powerful, the self-sufficient or the connected. He tells where He is and where He wants to meet us.
